Artist in Antarctica—A Lecture Series

Artist in Antarctica: Walking Among the Emperor Penguins

Award-winning artist, naturalist, and Boulder City resident Sharon K. Schafer, recently served as artist-in-residence for the prestigious Antarctic Polar Arts Program. During her stay on the Antarctic ice, Schafer was privileged to photograph and sketch at a remote Emperor Penguin rookery on the sea ice near Snow Hill Island, Antarctica.

Sharon shares her sketches, photographs, and memories of an extraordinary once-in-a-lifetime experience "Walking Among the Emperor Penguins."

Artist at the End of the World: The Wildlife of Antarctica and the Sub Antarctic Islands

During a month-long journey that covered nearly 5,000 ocean miles Schafer observed, photographed, and sketched wildlife. She visited the Falkland, South Georgia, Elephant, and South Shetland islands as well as the Antarctic Peninsula.

From elephant seals to blue-eyed shags and petrels to penguins—Sharon will share her experiences as an "Artist at the End of the World."

Nevada State Museum Exhibit Coming in December

The Art of Nature:
Images from the Wildlands
of Southern Nevada.

Come and explore
southern Nevada's
wildlands through the eyes, brush, and lens of Sharon K. Schafer.

"Southern Nevada is
at once austere,
enchanted, and
secretive:

a land of mystery...
a land of contrasts
and contradictions...
a land of great beauty
and little rain.

The desert is a place of stunning natural beauty and diversity; it is deserving of our care
and concern."
